Continuing Education

Thank you for considering Kim Bevill's Classes.

All classes are available for Professional Development credit through ASCD approved universities.

Credits are an additional $50 each through our university, most classes are 3 credits, there are a few 1 credit options.

Online classes are highly engaging explanations of the most important research. Kim's passion is to share the latest information about the brain, how to lace it into your curriculum and provide you with strategies people say are golden. It seems people revolutionize not only their classroom, but their life, their marriage, and feelings of hope.

"What is taking an online class like?"

16 hours of on-demand presentation focused on evidence-based strategies and suggestions including interactive activities. Purchase of any online class will include a directions sheet as well as it's intended coursework. Online directions will also provide step-by-step instruction in requesting transcripts. Coursework is a description of how you used the things you learned in your life, classroom, or how you plan to do so.

Always hope to see you live soon!

Kim

My goal is that my classes provide an easy-to-understand translation of the ever-growing neurological research, so that we may not only change the lives in the classroom but also the ones in our own homes.
